Trae Pepper, a 1990 Colorado State University graduate, was diagnosed with liver cancer in mid-February. Just 5½ weeks later, at the age of 36, Trae lost his brief battle with cancer, leaving his wife Lisa and two young children, daughter Hailey (8 years old) and Taren (5), behind.

Trae lived the American dream, starting a beautiful family and a small business in Greeley, Colo. However, as Trae fought for his life over the past month and a half, the family lost its revenue source. Combining the medical bills, daily living costs, and now funeral costs, and the family is suffering through much more than an emotion burden, but also a severe financial one. Not to mention, there is worry over future financial stability and provision for the children.

Trae had a strong faith in God, and is now at peace in Heaven. But, his family can use your support. We hope and ask that you may be able to help Trae's family in these difficult times.

To donate, please send a check made payable to UBS Financial Services to Trae Pepper Memorial Fund, P.O. Box 337361, Greeley, CO 80633. (Please write "Trae Pepper Memorial Fund" in the memo line.) Pete Rebstock at UBS Financial Services will manage (at no cost) the fund to help the family through this financial hardship.

You can also find out more through Trae's webpage at www.ramnation.com/prayfortrae. Through the page, you can also donate online via PayPal, and all online donations will be transferred to the Trae Pepper Memorial Fund. All businesses that donate will be acknowledged on a page linked via Trae's webpage. If you are a business and want acknowledgement, please send an email to helptrae@yahoo.com.

Thank you so much for your generosity and support.

Sincerely,

Trae's Friends
