Rams Open MWC Play

Colorado State returns to prime time coverage with a Thursday night game against Air Force on ESPN. The Rams, who have appeared on Thursday night telecasts more than any other institution in the Mountain West Conference, did not play a prime time game last season. Thursday's contest is the 14th time since Sonny Lubick's arrival in 1993 the Rams will have appeared on an ESPN/ESPN2 prime time game. The Rams open MWC play against an old foe, Air Force. Colorado State enters the game following a 42-21 win over Nevada in the team's home opener last Saturday in Fort Collins before 29,101 fans at the newly renovated Sonny Lubick Field at Hughes Stadium.

Clean And Dirty

Throughout the 2005 season, CSU's media relations office will track "clean" and "dirty" throws by the team's quarterbacks. A clean throw is one where there is no defensive pressure or a defensive hurry, while a dirty throw is a passing attempt with defensive pressure present. QB Justin Holland has completed 42-of-62 passes (68 percent) for 629 yards and five touchdowns on clean throws. Conversely, he has completed 13-of-31 passes (42 percent) for 96 yards with two touchdowns and four interceptions on dirty throws.

COLORADO STATE FOOTBALL

Stadium Facts

Since Sonny Lubick's arrival in 1993, Colorado State has won nearly 75 percent of the team's home games. Sonny Lubick Field at Hughes Stadium has been the site to some of the greatest games in school history, and national and regional television broadcasts take place at nearly every home game.

The stadium lies at the base of the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, about two miles west of the main campus area and in one of the most scenic settings to be found anywhere. In 2000, permanent lighting standards were installed, then 4,400 additional permanent seats were constructed in the north end zone for the beginning of the 2004 season.

Sonny Lubick, Head Coach
13th Season • Western Montana '60

Tributes Numerous

Colorado State football coach Sonny Lubick has been paid many tributes during his 13 seasons at the helm.

For instance, he has been honored as the conference coach of the year four times.

In 1994, SPORTS ILLUSTRATED honored the personable Lubick as its national coach of the year. That same year he received several national recognition from several other organizations as well.

But perhaps the greatest tribute and a testimony to what he has meant not only to Colorado State's football program but the entire athletics department, university community and the region came in May of 2003.

During the announcement of a $15.2 million gift by Pat Stryker and the Bohemian Foundation to renovate and expand the school's football stadium, officials announced that the field would be named in Lubick's honor.

That "Sonny" spring day will long be remembered as one of the greatest moments in Rams' athletics history. Sonny Lubick Field at Hughes Stadium is undergoing significant changes that will expand the capacity, provide two new scoreboards including a state-of-the-art video replay board, expanded premium club level seating, and the addition of luxury suites. There will also be a new playing field installed, as well as other fan amenities to provide Ram fans the finest spectator experience.

More than anything else, the gift and the ensuing renovation and expansion serve as daily reminders what Lubick has meant not only to the football program, but to the athletic department in general and the university as a whole.

It is more than his performance on the field, which has been remarkable: 6 conference titles, 8 bowl appearances, and ranking among the top 15 programs nationally in total victory.

Lubick has won 95 games in 12 seasons including four times guiding the Rams to 10 or more victories in a campaign.

It is more about who he is as a person, a husband, and father, more about what he stands for and cares about.

In December of 2003, Lubick was named one of four national finalists for the Eddie Robinson Coach of Distinction Award for his community service work and success with the Rams' program.

In the summer of 2003, he was recognized by the American Diabetes Association's Colorado Chapter as a "Father of the Year." He is an annual contributor and participant in several local and national charities, including the St. Jude's Children's Hospital campaign.

Each spring, Lubick can be spotted visiting local elementary schools to visit students about the importance of education and being a solid citizen.

On the school's campus, he has achieved celebrity status, not because of the success and recognition he has generated for the entire institution, but for his gentle nature and caring personality.

In May of 2005, he was accorded another honor, having been named the Citizen of the Year by the Fort Collins Board of Realtors.

Those who have had the pleasure of dealing with Lubick quickly recognize why he has succeeded as a coach.

Personal Philosophy

Lubick cares deeply about the people around him - from the members of his coaching staff to every player on the roster. He has built Colorado State's program into one of the nation's finest with hard work, dedication, and a commitment to helping people attain success.

He has a philosophy he shares not only with his team, but with the community and Ram fans nationwide:

- Responsibility: Having each member of Colorado State's program take responsibility for their actions and impact on the success of the team.
- Character: Lubick places a premium on student-athletes who display integrity and honesty.
- Respect: Earning respect among peers, fans, and colleagues remains more important to the veteran coach than gaining popularity.
- Keep winning and losing in perspective: Sonny Lubick keeps his program on an even keel - not too high after a monumental victory, of which there have many during his career, nor too low following defeat. Lubick has the presence in the program to keep his program focused on the goal ahead.

- Work hard and enjoy what you do: Sonny Lubick's work ethic, dedication and enthusiasm is contagious to those around the Rams' program. He also firmly believes that individuals in any situation perform at peak levels when they enjoy what they are doing.

Lubick's philosophy has paid tremendous dividends to Colorado State's program. Consider that in 11 seasons, he has won 91 games and appeared in 8 bowl games while winning 6 conference titles.

Rams' Success Unmatched

In 11 seasons prior to his arrival, the Rams' program tasted victory only 47 times and played in a single bowl game.

He is without question the most successful coach in school history and has earned the reputation as one of the nation's finest football coaches. He has brought unmatched success and popularity to the base of the Rocky Mountains with his style and grace.

"People know who Colorado State is now. When we go to a bowl game, and see the fans and students enjoying the game, that's what we talk about as coaches and makes us excited," Lubick said.

Lubick is quick to credit his staff and the student-athletes for the program's prominence.

"It's about good coaches and having good student-athletes. Players know they are being treated fairly and that this is a good place," said Lubick

"It takes all of us to have a good program: the student-athletes, coaches, staff, the student body. Those are the little things that make big things happen."

While Lubick is pleased with the program's progress, he is not satisfied or complacent.

"I'm proud to be part of something like this," he said of the Rams' achievements. "But we're going to keep pushing to get better. We want to maintain a solid program that has respect throughout the country. Other coaches from around the country look at our program and know something good is going on here."

"I have been fortunate to have played for Coach Lubick. To me he ranks up there with a select group of coaches who make a difference in not only a program, but a community. His influence rubs off on his players."

Program Milestones

MWC head coach. The veteran coach also ranks among the national leaders in career victories.

The Rams' program has attained lofty status with 10 consecutive winning seasons from 1994-2002, among the highest totals in the nation.

Success on the field has been transformed into overall popularity of the program. Colorado State, since Lubick's arrival, has appeared in 97 regional and national television games.

In 2003, Colorado State finished among the top 15 programs nationally in percent capacity, 102.1, having drawn more than 183,000 fans for 6 home games, 30,631 per contest. All of those figures rank among the top three in school history.

Additionally, the top eight home season and individual game attendance records have come during Lubick's career at Colorado State.
